Take Care of the Ocean.

Hawaii is known for one of the most beautiful oceans in the world but it can't be that way if we the people don't take care of our trash. When people don't throw away it usually ends up in the ocean and that is very dangerous for the plants and animals that live in there. Some animals might think it is food so they eat it and they end up starving and dieing. When a great amount of a certain species die, they become "Kapu". Kapu means you cannot eat, touch, or kill because they are close to being extinct. We need to take care of our ocean because we live off of it. Many things are transported through ocean and we eat the fish that are in the ocean. That is why when you are walking along the beach and you see trash on the floor, it is important that we pick it up and throw it away so it wont end up in the ocean or in the belly's of our sea animals.

Reduce, Reuse, Recycle. These are important to live by because it helps our economy out and it also helps our ocean. Reduce meaning limit the amount of stuff we use. Reuse means use things over so you don't need to buy more things. Lastly, recycle, we need to recycle so trash can go in a proper place and so it won't end up in the ocean because the most famous thing found in the ocean is plastic. We need to take care of our ocean as if it was our own body.
