

Taylor T.

12.20.08

age 12

The ocean belong to us because we all share the ocean and love it so. It's important to keep our ocean clean because at first turtles, if they see plastic they will think it's jelly fish and they will eat it. It goes inside their stomach and die. It's really important to keep Tokelau and Hawaii's ocean clean because if it's not clean we won't have food to eat and for Tokelau they live off the ocean land won't have food for there family.

When watching the video, the thing that I learned was that every year, plastic goes in to the ocean and kills the animals like turtles if they see plastic they will think it's jelly fish and they will die from eating it. Now our family recycle well my mom is using fabric bags so that we won't use plastic bags from now on. and we are taking recycling very serious so that we can keep our ocean clean all the time. The thing that we can do as a community is that we should clean beaches and also put signs up like don't put plastic in ocean or it will kill turtles.

At the water park I really had a good time spending time with my family and also swimming, yaaa. The thing that I learn from that guy from the surfrider foundation is that you should use metal bottles so we