

RELSUN ESSAY

VIHEHIOT.
Age 13

Last week Saturday December 13th 2008 me and the Te Lumanaki School went to the water park.

Before that we watched a video. I think it was good we watched that video about how we're destroying the ocean, then going to the water park.

The Relsun video was very good. It shows how we're not taking care of the ocean and not recycling. The ocean belongs to every body and every thing. It's no one person's. And I think it is important to keep the ocean clean because it's the only one we've got. And it will kill the fish, we eat. A clean ocean is important to Tokelau because a lot of good fish are eaten by the Tokelavans. They basically live off of fish. It is also important to Hawaii because a lot of us like to swim at the beach and no one likes a filthy beach. New info. I learned was that a lot of turtles can die from packages that get into ocean and think it's jelly fish. Dolphins are dieing because they pick up packages on their fins to play with, but sometimes gets caught on their blow hole. Last but not least, the Albatross. It could be close to extinction because a lot of trash and plastic drift to mid way island where there's a lot of albatross.
